

MAKE YOUR SAFETY PROMISE TODAY

Make a start in improving health and safety in your workplace

WHAT IS THE SAFETY PROMISE?

If you care about improving safety in your business and want some help to get started or improve what you have already done, one of the first steps you can take is to make your safety promise - a public commitment to health and safety. This is a powerful but simple way to show the world that you care about safety and you care about the people in your workplace.

WHAT DO YOU NEED TO DO?

Simply go to the safety starts with you website and follow the links to the safety promise. Then it's as easy as one, two, three.

1. Talk to your workers about what a safer workplace might look like.
2. Make your safety promise using the online tool - your promise will be visible to your staff, your customers and to other businesses.
3. Turn your words into actions - we have lots of services that can help you improve safety.

You'll be asked to provide your business details and make some simple yet meaningful statements about how you will:

- demonstrate safety leadership from the top
- consult with your workers to ensure they have the opportunity to contribute to improved health and safety
- put in place safe systems, procedures and policies relevant to your business
- support your workers to develop their skills to work safely and to value safety as a part of their jobs
- create a workplace that is physically and mentally healthy and safe.

In return you'll receive a poster that you can proudly display at your workplace and icons for your website and social media sites.

Safety starts with you, so make your safety promise today.

WHY SHOULD YOU MAKE A SAFETY PROMISE?

Making your safety promise helps you to achieve a healthier and safer workplace. It also shows your customers and the community that you are committed to health and safety in a meaningful way.

We want to help NSW to create a culture where business operators lead safety and all people take personal responsibility for their own safety and looking out for others. This includes talking openly about why safety matters and what you can do together to improve it. A business that is healthy and safe keeps valuable workers at work which is important for your business and for the economy - a good business is a safe business.

Show your commitment to health and safety. Make your safety promise today.
